➤ What is an ITIN?

An Individual Taxpayer Identification Number (ITIN) is a tax processing number issued by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS). It is a nine-digit number that always begins with the number 9, example 9XX-7X-XXXX. The range of middle digit numbers includes 50-65, 70-88, 90-92, and 94-99. The IRS began issuing ITINs in 1994 to individuals who are required to have a U.S. taxpayer identification number but who do not have, and are not eligible to obtain, a Social Security Number (SSN) from the Social Security Administration (SSA). Individuals must have a filing requirement and file a valid federal income tax return with the ITIN application (W-7), unless they meet an exception.

Formerly, the ITINS were issued as cards, but because they looked too much like Social Security cards, the IRS now issues a light green letter with the ITIN number.

➤ What is an ITIN used for?

An ITIN is issued by the IRS to allow those without Social Security Numbers to file taxes, or to allow taxpayers to claim dependents without SSNs. ITINS are also being legally used for a variety of other reasons by public and private organizations (getting a driver's license, obtaining a car loan, opening a bank account, applying for a mortgage, etc.).

An ITIN DOES NOT allow a person to work in the United States. When a taxpayer with an ITIN presents a W-2 with a SSN on it, you will enter the ITIN throughout the return and the SSN only when entering the W-2 information. An ITIN DOES NOT change an immigrant's legal status in the US. An ITIN does not allow access to government benefits such as welfare, food stamps, or Medicaid. ITIN holders are also not eligible for certain tax credits such as the Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC).

An ITIN DOES NOT necessarily mean that a person is in the country illegally (student visas, tourist visas, foreign investors, family abroad, etc.).

➤ Who should apply for an ITIN?

Anyone who is required to file US taxes but is not eligible for a social security number should apply for an ITIN. A taxpayer's spouse who is not eligible for a SSN should apply for an ITIN. Qualifying dependents living in the US, Canada, or Mexico without SSNs are also eligible for ITINs.

➤ Who cannot apply for an ITIN?

Anyone who has, or is eligible for, a Social Security Number. Anyone not appearing on the attached tax return. Dependents not living in the US, Mexico, or Canada.

➤ Does the IRS keep ITIN information confidential?

The IRS does not report ITIN information to immigration authorities unless the client is under investigation for a crime. Federal agencies requesting information on an ITIN holder must first get a court order from a federal court.

➤ Does an ITIN help an immigrant to become legal in this country?

No, not at this time. However, showing that you have been filing taxes is often beneficial (or required) during the legalization process, as it shows that an applicant has been working and following US laws.

➤ Can a tax return with an ITIN be e-filed?

A tax return for a taxpayer with an existing ITIN can be e-filed; a tax return including Form W-7 for an application or renewal of an ITIN cannot be e-filed. It must be a paper return.

➤ How do I decide if a taxpayer is a nonresident alien or a resident alien?

The IRS has different rules than other federal agencies for what makes someone a resident:

You will be considered a U.S. resident for tax purposes if you meet the substantial presence test for the calendar year. To meet this test, you must be physically present in the United States on at least:

31 days during the current year, and

183 days during the 3-year period that includes the current year and the 2 years immediately before that, counting:

- All the days you were present in the Tax Year, and
- 1/3 of the days you were present in the prior year, and
- 1/6 of the days you were present two years ago.

If the client passes the substantial presence test, they are a resident alien for tax purposes. If they fail the substantial presence test, they must file a 1040NR and are out of scope for VITA.

An important exception to the substantial presence rule: Do not count the following as days of presence in the United States for the substantial presence test for these exempt individuals (and their immediate family members):

- An individual temporarily present in the United States as a foreign government-related individual under an "A" or "G" visa, other than individuals holding "A-3" or "G-5" class visas.
- A teacher or trainee temporarily present in the United States under a "J" or "Q" visa, who substantially complies with the requirements of the visa.
- A student temporarily present in the United States under an "F," "J," "M," or "Q" visa, who substantially complies with the requirements of the visa.
- A professional athlete temporarily in the United States to compete in a charitable sports event.

These individuals usually fail the substantial presence, meaning they need to file a 1040NR are out of scope for VITA.

Note: Only the primary taxpayer must pass the substantial presence test in order to be considered a resident alien and be eligible to file a 1040. Dependents and spouse are not subject to the test, although you can't claim a person as a dependent unless that person is a U.S. citizen, U.S. resident alien, U.S. national, or a resident of Canada or Mexico, and that person meets all other tests to be claimed as a dependent.

If, at the end of your tax year, a couple is married and one spouse is a U.S. citizen or a resident alien and the other is a nonresident alien, they can choose to treat the nonresident spouse as a U.S. resident. If you make that special election to file as married filing jointly, the nonresident alien spouse agrees to be treated as a resident alien for tax purposes. Both spouses must report their combined worldwide income and deduct their combined allowable worldwide expenses. Once the election is made, it applies to all later years until it's properly terminated. See Pub 54 for further reading.

If the nonresident alien spouse does not elect to be treated as a resident alien, the taxpayer uses the married filing separately filing status. If the nonresident alien elects not to be treated as a resident alien, the taxpayer (who is the U.S. citizen or resident alien) may be considered unmarried for head of household purposes if the taxpayer has a qualifying person (which cannot be the nonresident spouse) and meets the other tests to be eligible to file head of household.

➤ Who must renew their ITIN?

Beginning in 2016, ITINs not used on a tax return for three consecutive years will expire. (E.g. ITINs not used on a tax return at least once for tax years 2017, 2018, or 2019 expired on 12/31/2020.)

Additionally, ITINs issued before 2013 will expire on a rolling basis according to a schedule determined by the IRS. A group of ITINs containing certain middle digit combinations will now expire each year.

- ITINs with middle digits 78 and 79 (e.g. 9XX-78-XXXX and 9XX-79-XXXX) expired on 12/31/2016.
- ITINs with middle digits 70, 71, 72, and 80 expired on 12/31/2017.
- ITINs with middle digits 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 81, and 82 expired on 12/31/2018.
- ITINs with middle digits 83, 84, 85, 87, and 87 expired on 12/31/2019.
- ITINs with middle digits 88 expired on 12/31/2020. Also ITINs with middle digits 90, 91, 92, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98 and 99 that were assigned before 2013 expired on 12/31/2020.

Whereas an ITIN application is required to be submitted with a tax return, an ITIN holder can submit a renewal with just a W7 and the supporting documentation. ITINs set to expire at the end of the calendar year can be renewed now or after they have already expired. Once an ITIN has expired, the ITIN will have to be renewed before a tax return can be filed for any year. ITINs with middle digits 70-88 that were not already renewed will need to be renewed before a tax return can be filed for any year. It is recommended ITIN holders renew their ITINs before they have expired to benefit from faster processing times and to avoid processing and refund delays during the filing season. (An ITIN application/renewal must be processed before the tax return is processed and refund issued.)

➤ Can I renew my family member's ITIN, even if it is not expiring?

If one person in the tax household must renew his/her ITIN, everyone in the household can renew their ITINs at the same time, regardless of when they expire. Otherwise, you must wait until your ITIN is up for renewal.

➤ When an individual renews their ITIN, will they retain the same ITIN or receive a new one?

Once an ITIN is assigned, it belongs to that taxpayer unless the ITIN has been revoked. When an individual renews their ITIN, the previously assigned number is renewed.

➤ If someone files a return in tax season without renewing, what kind of correspondence will they receive?

A return filed with an expired ITIN will be processed. However, certain tax credits and/or any claimed exemptions applicable to the expired ITIN will not be allowed. The taxpayer will receive a notice from the IRS explaining the change(s) made to their tax return and that you, your spouse, and/or your dependent(s) ITIN expired. Once the ITIN is renewed, any exemptions and/or credits previously disallowed will be reconsidered at that time. Until the ITIN is renewed, the taxpayer will be subject to interest and penalties for any tax owed as a result of disallowed exemptions and credits.

➤ What are the required documents for an ITIN application/renewal?

A successful ITIN application will include the following documents

1. A completed tax return (required for applications but not for renewals)
2. Form W-7 Application for an ITIN number
 - a. One W-7 must be completed for each person on the tax return who is applying for or renewing their ITIN.
 - b. The form W-7SP can also be used if the client prefers to receive correspondence in Spanish.
3. Supporting Identification Documents
 - a. A passport or a combination of two identifying documents must be provided.
 - b. See section on eligible documents below.
 - c. Originals or certified copies OR a certificate of accuracy from a certified acceptance agent must be included.

An ITIN application/renewal must be presented with supported documentation to prove identity and foreign status. An original or certified copy of an UNEXPIRED passport is the only document that is accepted for both identity and foreign status. If you do not have a passport, you must provide a combination of current documents that contain expiration dates (with the exception of the birth certificate). The documents must also show your name and photograph and support your claim of foreign status. If it is a medical record, school record, or documentation to prove a dependent's residency in the US, it must have been issued within the last 12 months.

➤ Do I need to renew my ITIN if I won't be filing a tax return or claim for refund?

No, however in the future if you file a U.S. tax return or claim for refund, the ITIN (including for a dependent) will need to be renewed at that time.

➤ I only use my ITIN on information returns, like Forms 1099. If my ITIN is expiring, do I need to renew it?

No, if your ITIN is only used on information returns and you will not be filing a tax return or claim for refund you do not need to renew your ITIN.

➤ I have a Social Security Number (SSN) and no longer need my ITIN that will be expiring. Do I need to renew my ITIN?

No, you should not renew your ITIN if you have or are eligible for a SSN. You can visit a local IRS office or mail a letter (see here for the CTC template and instructions) explaining you have now been assigned a SSN and want your tax records combined. The IRS will void the ITIN so it cannot be used by anyone in the future and associate all prior tax information filed under the ITIN with the SSN.

For preparers: if a taxpayer needs to file a tax return and recently received a social security number (but during the tax year had an ITIN and worked under a different SSN), here are the two filing options:

1. If the taxpayer can get the W-2s updated to reflect the new, valid SSN, we can e-file the return. The taxpayer should still separately do the aforementioned step of notifying the IRS.
2. If the W-2s aren't updated to reflect the new SSN, the return will need to be mailed to the IRS. We can prepare the return using the new SSN since the ITIN becomes invalid upon the taxpayer receiving a SSN. We can handwrite in red about the SSN field on the 1040, "Prior ITIN is 9xx-xx-xxxx" (whatever the actual ITIN was). We can prepare a cover letter that explains the client just received a valid SSN, that the prior (and now invalid) ITIN was _____, and that they worked for their employer(s) using SSN _____. (We will complete all forms in the tax software using the new SSN and staple the W-2s to the return as usual. We will mail the return to the regular IRS address, depending on whether a payment is included.)

➤ Will the IRS issue ITINs to individuals that are experiencing delays in securing a SSN?

The IRS will not issue ITINs in such situations. If a person is entitled to a Social Security Number, then they are not eligible for an ITIN.

➤ How do I file Forms 4868 or 1040-ES without a SSN or ITIN?

If you're filing an application for an extension of time to file (using Form 2868) or making an estimated tax payment using Form 1040-ES, enter "ITIN TO BE REQUESTED" wherever your SSN or ITIN is requested and submit by mail to the address listed in the instructions for that form. An ITIN will be issued only after you file a tax return and meet all other requirements.

Please note: The IRS will send the client by mail the original (or a photocopy of the) extension request, along with Form 6401, Request for Missing Information. The applicant needs to send in these papers when submitting the ITIN application.

➤ What if I update my address while my W-7 application is in process?

For pending ITIN applications/renewals, you will need to complete and mail Form 8822 to the ITIN program office. This is to update the address for all W-7-related correspondence. It is a good idea in these cases to also submit a completed Form 8822 to the regular IRS processing center to update the address on file for all other tax purposes.

The IRS will not use the address you enter on the Form W-7 to update its records for other purposes unless you include a U.S. federal tax return with your Form W-7. If you aren't including a U.S. federal tax return with your Form W-7 and you changed your home mailing address since you filed your last U.S. federal tax return, also file Form 8822, Change of Address, with the IRS at the address listed in the Form 8822 instructions.

➤ What if I've changed my name since my ITIN was originally issued to me?

If you're renewing your ITIN and your legal name has changed since the original assignment of your ITIN, you'll need to submit documentation to support your legal name change, such as your marriage certificate or a court order, which may include a divorce decree. Attach supporting documentation to Form W-7.

➤ What if the client's SSN is no longer valid for employment?

Anyone who has been issued a SSN must file taxes with this number. Your SSN is valid indefinitely and any previous tax identification number is no longer active.

For DACA recipients, even if your Employment Authorization Document (EAD) from the Department of Homeland Security has expired, you should continue to file taxes with your SSN.

To claim the Earned Income Tax Credit (EITC) you must file your taxes with a valid work-authorized SSN and meet the eligibility requirements. You may also claim the Child Tax Credit (CTC) and other tax credits if you meet the eligibility rules.

If you were unable to renew your DACA status and have lost work authorization, you are ineligible to claim the EITC. Your SSN must be valid for employment at the time of tax filing to obtain the EITC. However, you remain eligible to claim the CTC and education tax credits if you qualify.
